CV - English

MARK ASPINWALL
Department of Politics and International Relations
University of Edinburgh
George Square
Edinburgh, EH8 9LL, Scotland
mark.aspinwall@ed.ac.uk

Date of Birth: October 27, 1957
Citizenship: US & UK

Education
1994  London School of Economics and Political Science. Ph.D. in International Relations.
1986  University of Rhode Island. M.A. in Marine Affairs.

Academic positions
2004- University of Edinburgh. Senior Lecturer in Politics.
2002-4 Robert Gordon University. Professor of Politics and Public Policy.

Selected research publications
Books

Articles and Chapters

‘Structuring Europe: Powersharing institutions and British preferences on European integration,’ Political Studies, June, 2000.

Working papers:
- NAFTA-ization: Regionalization and domestic political adjustment in the North American economic area
- Private interests and exchange rate politics: the case of British business (co-authored with Mark Duckenfield)
- Commons Sense: understanding British MP attitudes to European integration

Consulting
Reuters, Economist Intelligence Unit, EU TACIS program, Royal Institute for International Affairs.

Research funding
University of Edinburgh, Royal Society of Edinburgh, European Social Fund (EU), Political Studies Association Grant Scheme, Leverhulme Trust, Nuffield Foundation, British Academy, Thyssen Foundation, Carnegie Trust, British Council.

Visiting scholar
Harvard University, European University Institute (Florence), University of Havana, People’s University, NATO Defense College, University of Ljubljana.

Conferences
Fecha de nacimiento: 27 Octubre 1957
Ciudadanía: Estados Unidos y Reino Unido

Educación
1994  London School of Economics and Political Science. Ph.D. in International Relations.
1986  University of Rhode Island. M.A. in Marine Affairs.

Cargos
2004-  University of Edinburgh. Senior Lecturer in Politics.
2002-4  Robert Gordon University. Professor of Politics and Public Policy.

Publicaciones principales
Libros

Artículos y capítulos

‘Structuring Europe: Powersharing institutions and British preferences on European integration,’ Political Studies, June, 2000.

Papeles de trabajo:
- NAFTA-ization: Regionalization and domestic political adjustment in the North American economic area
- Private interests and exchange rate politics: the case of British business (co-authored with Mark Duckenfield)
- Commons Sense: understanding British MP attitudes to European integration

Consultar
Reuters, Economist Intelligence Unit, EU TACIS program, Royal Institute for International Affairs.

Financiación para investigar
University of Edinburgh, Royal Society of Edinburgh, European Social Fund (EU), Political Studies Association Grant Scheme, Leverhulme Trust, Nuffield Foundation, British Academy, Thyssen Foundation, Carnegie Trust, British Council.

Escolar visitante
Harvard University, European University Institute (Florence), University of Havana, People’s University, NATO Defense College, University of Ljubljana.

Congresas
English summary

Regional integration and political development in Mexican environmental politics

This project examines the creation of institutional capacity in Mexican environmental politics in the past 15 years, including improvements in technical expertise and bureaucratic problem-solving. Have a new set of expectations on the environment been created and are these being fulfilled? Did NAFTA institutions raise awareness on environmental issues and were its funding mechanisms important in the development of the Mexican environmental movement? How has the North American Development Bank affected environmental priorities in Mexico? Has increased bureaucratic communication among the member states brought new pressures for development of Mexican environmental institutions? How has growing technical expertise among civil society groups contributed to these pressures, and what part do border states play in changing environmental politics in Mexico? The aim is to trace the growth of cross-border linkages between civil servants and between domestic groups, at both the federal and local (border) levels, and also to determine what institutional, normative and behavioural changes have occurred. This will involve field interviews of civil servants and NGOs in Mexico City as well as the border states, and review of official documents, including Congressional debates and other public documents.

Resumen español

Integración regional y desarrollo político en las políticas ambientales de México

Este proyecto investiga la creación de la capacidad institucional en las políticas ambientales de México desde el TLC, incluyendo el crecimiento de pericia técnica y la capacidad de resolver problemas entre funcionarios. Han creado nuevas expectaciones sobre el medio ambiente, y las andan cumpliendo? Han subido el conocimiento de los asuntos ambientales? Estaban importante sus maneras de apoyar para el movimiento ambiental en México? Como ha afectado el Banco de Desarrollo de América del Norte las prioridades ambientales? Ha llevado mas comunicación entre los funcionarios nuevas presiones para desarrollar las instituciones ambientales Mexicanas? Como ha contribuido mas pericia técnica entre grupos de la sociedad civil a estas presiones? Que papel juegan los estados fronteros? El objetivo es comprender el crecimiento de las conexiones a través la frontera entre funcionarios y entre grupos domésticos a los niveles federal y local. También, es comprender que cambios institucionales, normativos y de conducta han pasado. Va a requirir entrevistas de funcionarios y ONGs en la Cuidad de México y en los estados fronteros, además investigación de documentos oficiales, incluyendo debates del Congreso y otros documentos públicos.